It consists of 2 parts:

- A robust plate, to which a female joint is fastened.
- One more plate with standard coupling, to which another male joint is fastened.

Both joints make up for a turning mechanism making it possible to fasten the support system to the ceiling very quickly thanks to a safety pin, rotate it to your liking to reach a specific angle and fasten everything extremely easily and quickly.
Having a standard coupling, the system is also compatible with other options or support systems equipped with the same coupling element, thus making it modular together with other EUROMET products.

Compatibility: all EUROMET products with standard connection

Certification IMQ: EN 62368-1:2014+A11:2017 clause 8.7
